Risk education on explosive remnants of war

Do you live in Germany and are you thinking about returning to your country of origin?

You had to flee from armed conflict and had to leave your country of origin to seek protection in another country. You would like to return to your country of origin to help with the reconstruction process. Homeland, culture and family are very important to you.

Armed conflicts may result in some areas of the country being contaminated by explosive remnants of war, even though there are other areas that are already considered to be safe where it is once again possible to lead a normal life.

Objective

The main objective of the training is to highlight the dangers of explosive remnants of war, to raise awareness of the key issues in this respect and to provide basic safety information.

You can also transfer the knowledge you have learned directly to family, friends, neighbours or to the community who have remained in your country of origin and, when you return to your homeland, you can use this knowledge to protect yourself and others.

Target group

Interested persons whose countries of origin have been affected by conflict and who do not want to or are not able to stay in Germany and are thinking about returning to their country of origin.

Course languages

German and/or English, with interpreters for Arabic or other languages where necessary.

Dates

Would you like to take part in a training session? Or would you like to offer a training course as an organisation? Please get in touch with us. Dates can be arranged on an individual basis.

Costs

You will not have to pay anything for taking part in the training. The project is funded by the Federal Office for Migration and Refugees.

CONTENT

● Risk education about the threats posed by explosive remnants of war, raising awareness, safe behaviour.

DURATION - 90 minutes (intensive course)

PREREQUISITES - If you want to take part in our online training, you will need to have a stable internet connection and a PC or laptop. You can also take part on a tablet or using a smartphone via a free app. For reasons related to the size of the screen, usability and the need to be able to take part in in-depth discussions during the training, we would recommend using a PC or laptop.

You can take part online as an individual from any location, or alternatively you can do the training in a small group at a chosen location, such as the institutions or at a counselling centre, in compliance with the Covid-19 rules.

If you do not have the right technical set-up or there is another issue that is preventing you from taking part, please get in touch with us – we will find a solution together.

Classroom training

Whether or not we are able to carry out classroom training will depend on the local Covid-19 rules in your particular location.

CONTENT / MODULES – The classroom training consists of a series of modules. "Risk Education" is a fixed component and a key focal theme. You can then choose from the other three modules according to your needs.

● Risk education about the threats posed by explosive remnants of war, raising awareness, safe behaviour (3 days)
○ First Aid, including additional training for trauma
Learning how to help in emergency situations (2 days)
○ Reconstruction
Basic principles and knowledge (2 days)
○ Water, Sanitation and Hygiene (WaSH)
Information on ensuring basic standards (2 days)

DURATION AND LOCATION - Can be arranged flexibly and on an individual basis. We are happy to respond to individual enquiries from interested persons or to enquiries from organisations. We can also come to you. Our classroom training is carried out with a hygiene concept in place.

Completion

You will be sent a certificate to confirm your participation.
